Dear Mr. McCabe,

Here is the copy of HISTORIC
WHITEWASH you requested.

Please note that we have moved. Our address is Route 7, Frederick, Md. 21701. Your letter was forwarded.

We have exhausted our budget of review copies-without a single review. This is the most suppressed of all my work. I encourage you not to believe this paranoid, for there is quite a history.
The New York Times thought it worth 40 column inches as news, before publication, when no copies were available. No other paper has mentioned it. The AP interviewed me and kept the story on the hook in Baltimore, waiting for a clamor from subscribers who had no way of knowing of the existence of the book, until the Times story appeared. By the time any AP member could, it was third-day news. If you can pay for the book, we'd appreciate it, for we have not been able to pay the printer, hence my fifth book, POST MORTEM: SUPPRESSED KENNEDY AUTOPSY, is not published, though it has been finished for some months. If you cannot, okay.

When your piece appears, I'd appreciate a copy. Without my address, it will do me no good at all, for the book is almost 100% unavailable in the stores, a fine commentary on our time when it is the first to have this very large reproduction of the once-secret documents. Almost all of those that have appeared elsewhere originated in my work.

Sincerely,

Harold Weisberg
